

Sprayfo HYDRAFIT

Why do calves benefit from Sprayfo HydraFit?

Animals will drink when water is availability and accessible. In situations where this was or is not the case, (such as (after) transport or during other stressful situations) it is important to provide water in order to stop this ongoing deprivation and manage thirst. Thirst is a physiological reaction that occurs after compensation for fluids and salts by the body resulting in a decrease in the size of body cells. If not managed properly, this translates into body weight loss, but is also undesirable concerning animal welfare.

Animals will perform better if they drink, eat and feel more at ease, which is possible if normal body functions are properly supported. Access to high quality water, reinforced with minerals that are needed for a specific situation are key to achieve this.

Sprayfo HydraFit is a complementary feed for ruminants that provides the needed salts and sugars in the right amounts and in the correct ratio. HydraFit uses a method with a pending patent that allows for fast intake of water and supply of electrolytes and maintain hydration status.

General information
